

ENVD 4420: Planning Capstone
Field Summary (4 @ 5% each) Due Via D2L Dropbox

The first step in creating a field report is to read the Jottings chapter from Writing Ethnographic Field Notes (on D2L).

For each guest speaker or panel, use jottings and generate field notes.

Prior to the Field Report Due Dates, compile your field notes, with a one page summary of your findings, observations, and questions. You should be a) reporting on what you have heard; b) attributing ideas to specific people or groups; c) making observations beyond spoken words; and d) summarizing key ideas and questions for further pursuit.

Field Reports should include scanned copies of your original notes as well as a typed one-page summary. Reports are due on the following dates:

January 29 [includes Boulder High students, Greg Guibert lecture, and Mexico City guest lecture]

February 2 [includes 15 minute neighborhood panel and document review from Growing Up Boulder reports]

February 19 [includes place attachment guest lecture, field analysis, and any additional field work you or your group develop]

March 11 [includes Tim Z. Hernandez performance, document review of resilience project, and any additional field work you or your group develop]
